FTLR Fitness: Drip Billing Plan

How to earn close to $5,000 from one happy client by selling small steps, one at a time. Everything you need to know, in plain words.

Client	Goal	Date	Version
Leah Stukov, FTLR Fitness	About $5,000 gross	October 15, 2026	1.0

1 The idea in one minute

Instead of asking Leah for one big payment, you offer small, separate steps of $120 to $450. Each step has one clear result she can see. Each yes is easy because the risk is small and she already trusts you. The steps add up to about $4,930, plus a $199 monthly care plan.

- Why it works: small yeses build trust. A $150 step feels easy. A $5,000 project makes people pause.
- Why it protects you: every step is paid and approved before the next one starts. You never carry unpaid work.
- Why it protects her: every step is a Fiverr custom offer with protected payment, so she feels safe.
- Your value stays high: each step solves a real problem from the playbook, so you are not nickel and diming, you are guiding.

The numbers. One time steps: $4,930 gross. After Fiverr's fee (about 20 percent, check your own dashboard): about $3,944 net. Care plan: $199 per month, about $597 in 3 months. Total with the care plan: about $5,527 gross.

Decision for you. If $5,000 means after Fiverr's fee, you need about $6,250 gross. Tell me, and I will raise prices or add steps.

2 What if she does not buy everything?

SCENARIO	GROSS	NET AFTER FEE
She buys only the 4 launch ready steps	$700	$560
Launch ready, launch week, design and onboarding (steps 1 to 8)	$1,880	$1,504
Everything up to the analytics dashboard (steps 1 to 9)	$2,280	$1,824
Everything (all 16 steps)	$4,930	$3,944

This is why the plan is built in small steps: even a partial yes is real money, and a full yes reaches your target. Add the care plan on top in every case.

Blue headers are steps that change the iPhone app. Read the next page before you start those.

5 Protect the Apple approval (very important)

- While Apple is reviewing: do only copy, design and web side work. Do not upload a new iPhone build and do not edit things that would pull the app out of review.
- Store listing changes (subtitle, keywords, screenshots) can only be applied with a new app version. Promotional text can change anytime. So steps 1 and 2 are written now and applied in version 1.1.
- Bundle app changes in version 1.1: ratings prompt (step 5), purchase flow polish (step 6) and the new listing. One Apple review instead of four.
- Later app versions: reminders (step 10) and invite a friend (step 16) each need a new version, so bundle them when you can.
- Always test in TestFlight before submitting, and keep the demo account working.
- Rewards and offers: never add outside payment links or discounts inside the app. Rewards must follow Apple's rules.

6 How to bill each step on Fiverr

- 1. Wait for her yes to the message. Never send an offer she did not ask for.
- 2. Create a custom offer in your Fiverr chat with Leah (the create offer button in the conversation).
- 3. Write the scope in three lines: what you deliver, what you need from her, what is not included. Copy it from section 4.
- 4. Set the price and delivery time from the table, and one or two revisions.
- 5. Start only after she accepts and pays. The money is held by Fiverr until she approves the delivery.
- 6. Deliver, ask for approval, then offer the next step. Fiverr releases your earnings after its clearing period (check your account for the exact days).
- 7. Big items split in steps (Android, retention) are separate offers, so each payment stays small.

7 Messages to send

SITUATION	MESSAGE
Step 1: listing pack (after your call)	Leah, thank you for your time today. The playbook gives you the structure. If you would like me to do the listing for you, I can write and check the App Store name, subtitle, keywords and promotional text so it is ready to paste. It is a small fixed job for $150, on Fiverr with payment protected. Shall I send the offer?
Step 2: screenshots (after step 1 is approved)	Leah, your listing words are ready. The next thing that decides who installs is the screenshots. I can design five captioned screenshots using your real screens, telling the story we planned: $250. I will need your screens or a quick screen recording. Want me to send the offer?
Step 3: launch announcement pack	Leah, launch is close. I can write your launch email, community post and pinned chat message in your voice, so launch day is ready: $120. Shall I send it?
Step 4: welcome sequence	Leah, the first week decides if new members stay. I can write and set up your Day 0, 1, 3, 7 and 14 messages: $180. Want me to send the offer?
After any delivery (template)	Leah, here is [WHAT WAS DELIVERED]. How does it look? If you are happy, the next thing that helps most is [NEXT STEP], because [ONE SENTENCE OF VALUE]. It is $[PRICE]. Want me to send the offer, or would you rather wait?
If she says not now	Of course, no pressure. I will keep it on the list and check in after launch week. Congratulations again on the launch.
If she asks for a discount	I keep each step small and fixed so it stays easy. If the budget is tight, we can do the most important piece first and add the rest later.
If she asks for something extra, free	Happy to help with that. It is outside the step we agreed, so I will send a small separate offer for it, so everything stays clear for both of us.

8 Risks and how to handle them

RISK	WHAT TO DO
She is very busy	Keep messages short. One step at a time. Offer one clear next step, never a menu.
She says yes but is slow to send material	Do not start until you have what you need. Say so politely. The offer timer starts when you have it.
Scope grows	Stop. Quote the extra as a new small offer. Never do it free.
Fiverr fee surprises you	The tracker shows gross and net. Decide now if your target is gross or net.
An Apple rejection arrives	It is covered by your first order (2 resubmissions). Do not start app changes until it is resolved.
She asks to pay outside Fiverr	Say no kindly. Fiverr protects both of you, and it keeps your reviews and record.

9 Your weekly routine and next 7 days

Every Monday (15 minutes)

- Open the tracker (FTLR-Revenue-Roadmap.xlsx) and update every status.
- Check what is paid, what is waiting, what is overdue.
- Send one next offer or one friendly check in.
- Ask yourself: did I deliver a visible win this week?

Your next 7 days, in order

- Finish the Apple submission items (video, notes, demo account) and confirm Apple's review is moving.
- Have the call with Leah using the presentation and your presenter notes. No prices on the call unless she asks.
- After the call, send only step 1 (listing pack, $150) as a Fiverr offer.
- Deliver it fast and well. Then send step 3 (launch pack) before November 1.
- Ask her to accept delivery of the first order and leave the review. Accept her Reddit shoutout after that.

> The one rule behind everything: value first, one small yes at a time, never push. If you keep delivering visible wins, the next yes comes easily.
