WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Al Nakhla Residential Resort

alnakhla.sa | Riyadh | Prepared for the Al Nakhla team

Villas and apartments close to the city with a named general manager are strengths, but repeated lists, conflicting facts and booking only through an outside system appear to cost you residents.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
The villa and apartment lists appear three times, and View Available Units, Explore residences and Explore Residences all go to one page.	Repeated lists and duplicate buttons bury what a tenant needs.	One clean listing with clear filters.
The page claims 23 swimming pools while the general manager mentions a semi olympic swimming pool, and it calls itself both a resort and a compound.	Conflicting claims make visitors doubt your facilities.	One verified list of facilities and one name.
The only form is a newsletter field, booking goes to an outside system, and the Residents Portal link uses plain http on a dynamic address.	Prospects have no easy enquiry form, and an insecure link harms trust.	An on site enquiry and viewing form and a secure portal link.
The page shows one testimonial from Robert with no date, award logos with no names, and image text such as Evgen.	Thin proof and leftover labels weaken a premium offer.	Dated resident reviews and named awards.
