WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Bellissima Health and Beauty Salon

bellissimabeautysalon.co.uk | Sale, Greater Manchester, UK | Prepared for Samira Hanif and the Bellissima team

A salon trading since 1990 appears to lose bookings because clients can only ring or email, hours are not listed and the homepage has a typo.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
The page appears to offer no online booking, only a phone number, an email address and a Facebook link, with please ring for an appointment repeated.	Many clients decide in the evening or on their phone, and a salon they cannot book online loses them to one that they can.	Online booking with a simple calendar.
No opening hours appear on the homepage, only working flexible hours.	A new client cannot tell when you are open, and an unclear answer means they try another salon.	Clear hours and a Book Now button on every page.
The homepage appears to say flexible hours to suite our clients best, a typo, and We are OPEN and welcome all our old and new clients, which reads like old notice wording.	A typo on the first screen lowers trust, and old notice wording makes the page look unattended.	Fresh homepage copy.
The price list appears to be only a download link, and the special offers section says offers come from time to time.	A client who wants a price must download a file, and a vague offers section gives no reason to book today.	A price page and a live offers block.

What your new website will do for Bellissima Health and Beauty Salon

- Online booking and clear hours.
