WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Bioclinic Aesthetic Clinic

bioclinic.ae | Yas Island, Abu Dhabi | Prepared for the Bioclinic team

Bioclinic has a calm, premium look and a clear three step patient experience. The site has no way to book, and leftover text and broken links weaken the premium feel it is going for.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
There is no booking form and no Book a consultation button. The main buttons only scroll or browse, and the header has no phone or WhatsApp button.	A visitor who likes the clinic has no direct next step and must hunt for a contact page. Many leave without booking.	A Book a consultation button in the header and hero with a short booking form and WhatsApp beside it.
There are no reviews, before and after cases, practitioner names or credentials, and no pricing guidance anywhere on the page.	Aesthetic patients decide on proof and on who will treat them. Without it, a premium look is not enough to win the booking.	Named clinicians with credentials, real reviews and captioned results with consent.
The Instagram menu item links to /#contact, and the Instagram section falls back to a Posts not showing message. Leftover text such as Hover or tap to turn and stray underscores in headings appear on the page.	Broken links and leftover text break the polished feel a premium clinic depends on, right where trust is built.	Working social links, a stable feed and clean headings.
Service cards rely on hover or tap to reveal what they offer, and a Staff login link sits in the public footer.	Mobile visitors may never see the treatments, and a staff link in public view looks unfinished.	Treatments shown clearly on mobile, and the staff login moved out of the visitor path.

What your new website will do for Bioclinic Aesthetic Clinic

- A booking first homepage with a clear Book a consultation button, a short form and WhatsApp on every page.
- A proof layer: named clinicians, real reviews and captioned results beside every booking button.
- Treatment pages written to rank for searches like skin treatments Yas Island and aesthetic clinic Abu Dhabi.
