WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Jain Immigration Law

jainimmigrationlaw.com | Toronto, Canada | Prepared for Ravi Jain

A 26 year Toronto immigration practice with a named team is a strength, but a contact form with no visible submit button and clashing claims appear to cost you consultations.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
The contact form appears to list its fields with no visible submit button, and a spam trap line reads 'Leave this Blank if are sentient'.	A client ready to book a consultation cannot finish the form, and the odd wording looks unfinished.	A clear working form with a visible button and a confirmation message.
The hero appears to say 26 years of experience while the About section says over 20 years, and Business and Corporate Immigration cards appear to share the identical description.	Mixed claims and copied text make a law firm look careless to a client choosing a lawyer.	One verified experience claim and a distinct description for each service.
Ali Hosseini's team link appears to point to a page named marharyta-liva, and the word 'Inadmissability' appears misspelled in a heading.	Wrong profile links and typos send clients to the wrong lawyer and weaken trust.	Correct team links and proofread copy.
The footer appears to read 2025 while posts are dated 2026, images carry template file names, and no testimonials or case results appear beside unlabeled award logos.	Stale dates and missing proof give a nervous applicant little reason to pick you over another firm.	Named testimonials, labeled awards and a current footer.
