WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Seligman Law

seligmanlaw.com | Toronto, Canada | Prepared for Robin Seligman

A Toronto immigration boutique appears to lose consultations because the form it promises does not appear.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
The page appears to say Use the form below to contact us, but no form appears, only a Lets Chat heading.	Visitors who want to write cannot.	A working consultation form.
All four practice area headings appear to link to the same services page.	Visitors cannot reach a page for their specific case.	One page per practice area.
The only testimonial appears to be a quote from the founder, not a client.	Clients want to hear from other clients.	Real client reviews.
Trade agreements such as NAFTA and TPP appear in the copy, typos such as process require appear, and headings appear in mixed capitalisation.	Outdated references and typos weaken expert positioning.	Updated, proofread copy.

What your new website will do for Seligman Law

- Working form.
- One page per practice.
- Client reviews and updated copy.
