WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Luxury Residences

luxuryresidences.com | Barsha Heights, Dubai | Prepared for the team

Palm Jumeirah and ultra luxury listings are a strength, but placeholder text, mixed up prices and a broken contact link appear to cost you serious buyers.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
The public email contactus@luxuryresidences.com appears wrapped in a phone link, and the page appears to show both 'Thank you! Your submission has been received!' and 'Oops! Something went wrong while submitting the form.'	A buyer who clicks the email opens the dialer and a form that looks broken sends enquiries nowhere.	Working email link and a clean enquiry form.
Prices appear mismatched, such as AED 38,000,000 beside $ 38,000,000 and 6,702 sq.ft beside 63 sq.m, and apartments appear labelled as 'Duplex Bespoke Garden Home' and 'Garden Villa'.	Wrong prices and sizes make buyers doubt every listing.	Verified prices, sizes and property types.
The Insights section appears to repeat the same Bugatti Residences 2023 card four times with # links, the footer shows 2024 and 2026, and Privacy Policy appears to link to #.	Stale repeated content and a dead privacy link signal an unattended site.	Fresh insights, current footer, real policy page.
