WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Albasateen Real Estate

albasateen.sa | Riyadh | Prepared for the Albasateen team

A development track record since 1998 and a WhatsApp line are strengths, but visible template code, typos and conflicting project figures appear to cost you serious buyers.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
The project grid shows the unfilled tokens {{title}} and {{excerpt}}, and the language toggle links to #.	Template code on a development page looks unfinished to investors.	Finished project cards and a working language switch.
Typos appear: 'heart of diryah', 'U.G Parking Basaments' and 'Offices Residental', and the company name appears as Albasateen, Al Basateen and The Albasateen.	Spelling slips and changing names weaken a premium developer brand.	Proofread copy and one consistent brand name.
Palms and Gardens list identical specs, Hills and Albasateen Villas show different villa counts, and Palm View shows Available beside a SAR 650 million acquisition.	Conflicting project data makes buyers doubt every figure.	One verified fact sheet per project.
The enquiry dropdown omits five projects, no consent text shows near the form, and the site shows no testimonials or delivery dates.	Buyers for the missing projects cannot enquire and proof is thin.	A complete enquiry form and visible proof.
