WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Dentistry on 66

dentistryon66.com | Avenue Road, Yorkville, Toronto | Prepared for Dr. Al-Azawi and team

Dentistry on 66 has a clean layout, a working request form and 30 years of experience. Thin proof and a few leftover details hold back a clinic that promotes veneers and smile makeovers.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
No before and after gallery appears, even though the page promotes veneers, whitening and smile makeovers. Only three short reviews show, with no dates or ratings.	Cosmetic patients decide on visible results. Without them, price becomes the deciding factor and you lose to the cheapest clinic.	A captioned before and after gallery and dated reviews linked to your Google profile.
The heading Why patients choose ourDentistry on 66 has a missing space, and a stray 66 fragment shows in the hero.	Visible errors in headings make a long established practice look careless to a new patient.	A proofread build with clean, consistent headings.
The page says same day emergency appointments are available, but the clinic is closed Friday to Sunday, and there is no after hours option.	A patient in pain on a closed day finds no clear path and calls another clinic.	A clear after hours path, real booking and a WhatsApp or chat option.
The services grid and Comprehensive Dental Care sections repeat, the clinic exterior photo appears three times, and the same resource card text repeats under every card.	Repeated sections and images push real content down and weaken your search ranking.	One clean version of every section and treatment pages that answer what patients search for.
