WEBSITE GROWTH AUDIT

Goodyer Real Estate

goodyer.com.au | Paddington, Sydney | Prepared for Ms. Goodyer and team Goodyer has eight testimonials, a sold property grid and Sotheby's listings. The page has no lead form, and typos and a broken phone link cost enquiries from sellers.

What I found on your website

What I saw	What it costs you	The fix
No lead capture form or chat appears. Visitors must click Request an Appraisal and leave the page to make contact.	A seller who is ready to ask about an appraisal has to do extra work, and many will call the next agent.	A short appraisal form on the page with a confirmation message.
The phone link is malformed (tel with backslashes) and may not dial. The footer social icons are labelled l and i instead of names.	A phone link that fails loses the calls that matter most to an agency.	A tested tap to call link and clearly labelled social links.
The page says it is dedicated exclusively to property management, yet it also promotes luxury sales and Sotheby's listings.	A mixed message confuses sellers about whether you can sell their home.	One clear positioning for sales and for management.
Typos include It it wise to choose experience, the right the right buyers, results.. and 110% . Stray text such as Menu and arrow symbols shows, and many sold listings only say Contact agent.	Typos in a premium agent's copy and hidden sale prices weaken the track record you want to show.	A proofread build with sold prices shown where possible.
