FTLR FITNESS

GROWTH PLAYBOOK

Your first 90 days on the App Store

WHERE WE ARE TODAY

You are almost at the starting line

Everything below is built and working. The next milestone is Apple's approval, then launch on November 1.

Web app live

Members already use it

iPhone app built

Native app wraps your web app

Apple subscriptions

Monthly and Yearly, with Restore

Safe community

Report, block and clear rules

Submitted to Apple

Notes, video and demo account sent

Apple approval

We are waiting here

Launch, Nov 1

You choose the moment

Why this matters

An approved app is the starting line, not the finish. The next 90 days decide how many people find FTLR, finish a first workout, stay, and tell friends. This playbook shows how.

YOUR FOUNDATION

What is already strong

Five things most new apps do not have on launch day.

A clear promise

“Start building your best self for the long run” speaks to people who want lasting results, not a quick fix.

A full experience

Workouts, programs, recipes, Ask Your Coach, community and resources in one app.

Real Apple subscriptions

Monthly and Yearly plans, Restore Purchases, and legal links, as Apple requires.

A safe community

Reporting, blocking and clear rules protect your members and your brand.

Web members protected

People who already pay on your website can log in without paying twice.

THE BIG PICTURE

A member's journey: where each improvement helps

Growth is not one big thing. It is six small moments, and each one can be improved.

Discover	Install	First workout	Subscribe	Stay	Recommend
APP STORE LISTING	FIRST IMPRESSION	WITHIN 24 HOURS	CLEAR VALUE	WEEKLY RHYTHM	REVIEWS AND FRIENDS
Name, subtitle, keywords and screenshots decide who finds you.	A clean welcome and sign in build trust in seconds.	A short welcome from you gets people started.	A simple plans screen with the benefits up front.	Reminders, challenges and recipes keep the habit.	Ask at happy moments. Invite a friend.

Today, your biggest gaps are the first and last stages: being found, and being recommended.

THE PLAN

Your 90 days at a glance

Four phases. One simple focus in each.

PHASE 1
This week

Get launch ready

- Write your listing
- Plan 5 screenshots
- Draft announcements
- Prepare a welcome message

PHASE 2
Launch week

Nov 1 and 7 days after

- Release on your day
- Announce to members
- Pin a welcome in chat
- Ask for first ratings

PHASE 3
Days 8 to 30

Build the habit

- Weekly rhythm
- 14 day challenge
- Reply to every review
- Count Android requests

PHASE 4
Days 31 to 90

Grow and retain

- Win back quiet members
- Bring a friend week
- Monthly numbers check
- Plan next programs

STEP BY STEP

Phases 1 and 2: get ready, then launch

Do these while Apple reviews your app, and in the first week after.

Phase 1: This week

- Write your App Store listing with the copy on slide 8.
- Plan 5 screenshots that tell one story. They must show the real app in use.
- Draft one email to your list, one community post and one pinned chat message.
- Write the Day 0 welcome message every new member will see.
- Decide who answers chat reports. Keep your contact email monitored.

Phase 2: Launch week

- Release when you are ready: choose “Manually release this version” in App Store Connect.
- Send the announcement and post it in your community.
- Pin a welcome in the group chat. Invite everyone to finish a first workout.
- Ask happy members for a rating, right after a finished workout.
- Keep outside payment links out of the app. In the app, payments go through Apple only.

STEP BY STEP

Phases 3 and 4: build the habit, then grow

Small routines that keep members training month after month.

Phase 3: Days 8 to 30

- One weekly rhythm: Monday workout focus, mid week recipe, Friday check in.
- A 14 day challenge in the community gives a reason to open the app daily.
- Reply personally to every review. It shows a real coach is behind the app.
- Count how many members ask about Android. Write the number down.

Phase 4: Days 31 to 90

- Message members who have not trained in 10 days with a warm win back note.
- Run a “bring a friend” week. It costs almost nothing.
- Once a month, check new members, active members and cancellations. Fix the biggest leak first.
- Use real questions from Ask Your Coach to plan the next programs and recipes.

ACTIVATION

The first 7 days: from install to habit

Most members decide in week one. A short, human sequence in your voice does the work.

“Start with your first workout today. It takes about 15 minutes. I am glad you are here.”

GOAL

First workout in 24 hours

Day 1

Nudge, if no workout yet

“Your first workout is waiting. Pick any one and tell me how it felt.”

GOAL

Remove the fear of starting

Day 3

Check in and a recipe

“How is your week going? Here is a recipe that fits your preferences.”

GOAL

Show the whole app

Day 7

Celebrate week one

“One week done! If FTLR is helping, a quick rating means a lot to me.”

GOAL

First rating, at a happy moment

Day 14

Invite to community

“Join this week's challenge in the group chat. Ask me anything in Ask Your Coach.”

GOAL

Belonging and daily use

Send these as emails, chat messages or in app notes, whichever you prefer.

LOOK AND FEEL

Design direction: calm, uplifting, unmistakably FTLR

Built only from what you already say and show: sage green, “uplifted instead of beat down”, “strong, powerful, mobile”.

Colors

Sage	Deep sage	Ink	Deep teal	Mist
#8FB09B	#5F8570	#1D2A24	#2F6F7E	#F6F9F7

Type

Headlines: bold, tight, confident

Body: clean and easy to read, in the iPhone system font

Brand signature

FTLR

The sage highlight block is your signature. Keep the logo large and centered.

Design principles

- Uplifted, not beat down
  Soft greens, generous space, encouraging words. Never harsh.
- Longevity over intensity
  Show progress over weeks and streaks, not only single workouts.
- Strong. Powerful. Mobile.
  Use your three pillars as the way members move around the app.
- One calm system
  Every screen shares the same colors, buttons and spacing, from sign in to the home screen.

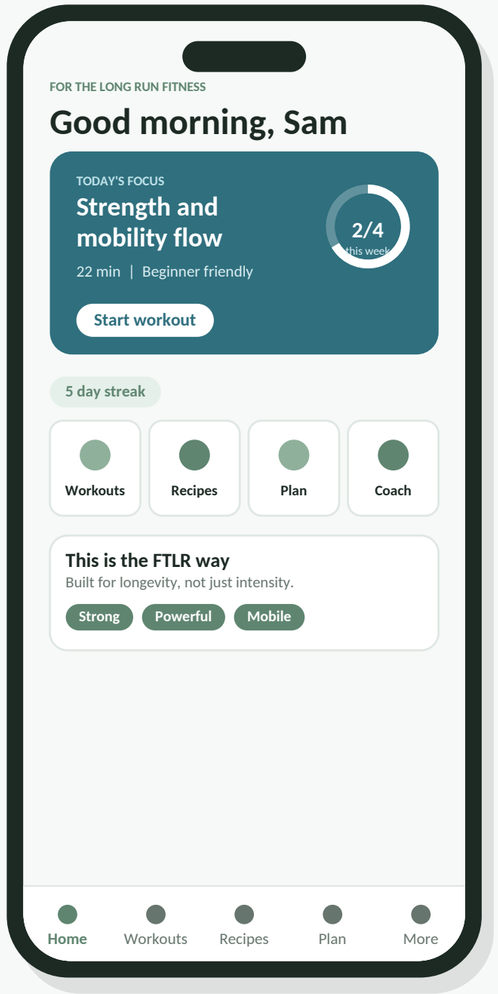

Today vs direction

Your paywall already follows this style. The login and home screens use a generic template, so there is room to bring the same calm look everywhere.

HIGH FIDELITY CONCEPT

Concept: a home screen members come back to

A design concept in your colors. Names, workouts and numbers are illustrations, and your real photos and content go inside.

Greets and guides

One clear next step: today's focus, with a single Start button.

Shows progress

A weekly ring and streak turn effort into a visible win.

Quick access

Workouts, Recipes, Plan and Ask Your Coach one tap away.

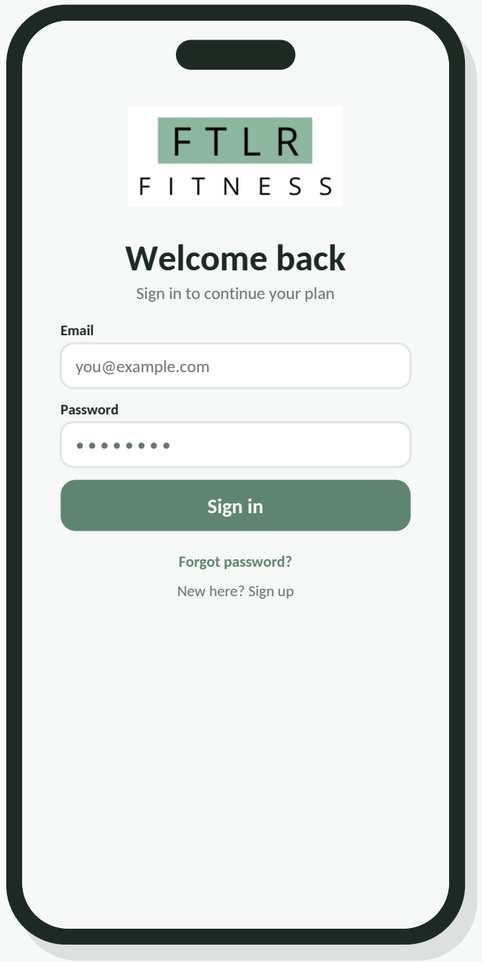

Your philosophy

“This is the FTLR way” and the three pillars stay in view.

HIGH FIDELITY CONCEPT

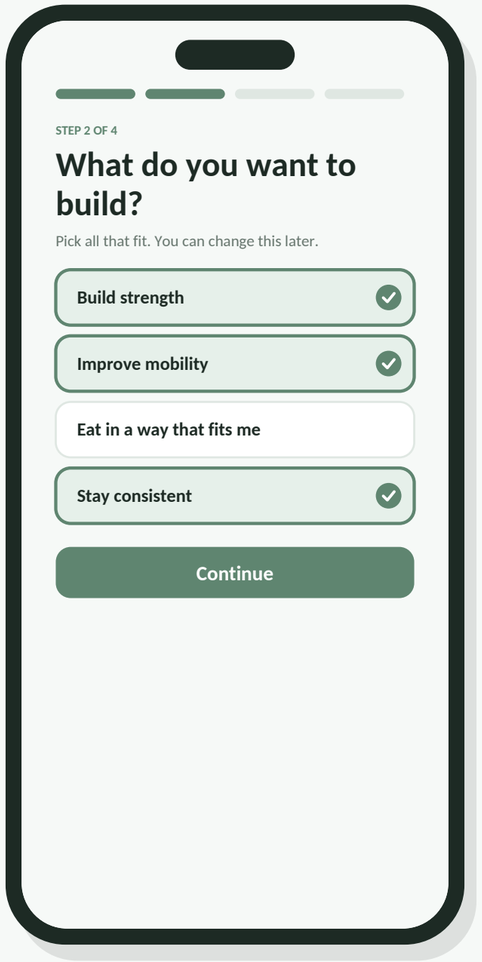

Concept: a welcome that gets members to their first workout

Sign in, goal and a note from you. Three calm screens in the same style as your paywall.

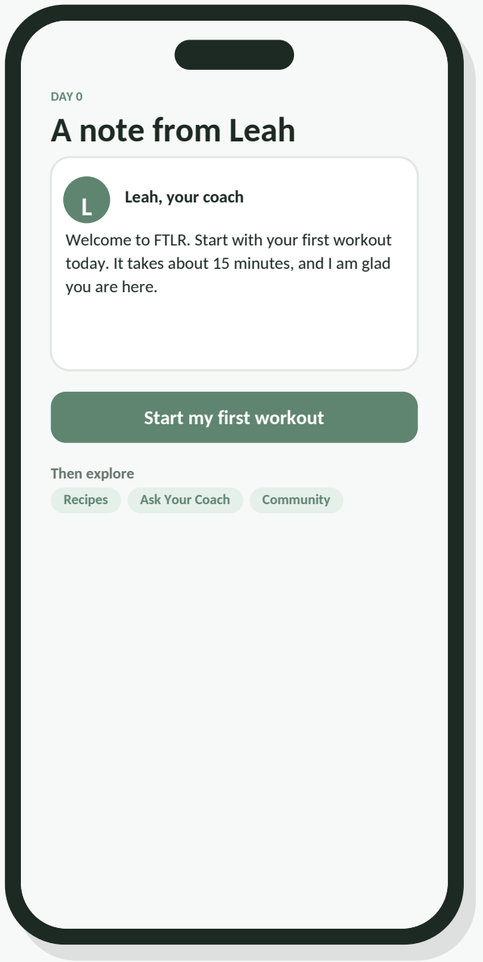

1 Sign in

Branded, simple, email and password.

2 Choose a goal

Personal from the first minute.

3 A note from Leah

Your voice, then a first workout.

REACH

Is Android worth it? Measure first

A simple 14 day count protects your budget and tells you the truth.

Step 1

For 14 days, add one line to your welcome message:

> “Which phone do you use?”

Step 2

Count the answers, and note every member who asks for Android.

Many answer Android, or several ask

An Android version will pay for itself. Same app, same subscriptions, on Google Play.

Almost nobody asks

Wait. Spend your effort on the first workout, reviews and retention instead.

START TODAY

Five quick wins you can do this week

No tools or help needed. Each one takes minutes.

1. Write your launch announcement
   One email and one community post.

2. Update your promotional text
   Make it about launch day.

3. Choose your 5 screenshots
   Follow the story on slide 8.

4. Set up the Day 0 welcome message
   Your voice, 15 minutes, first workout.

5. Check your support email daily
   Apple and members expect quick replies.
