Presenter notes: FTLR Growth Playbook

For your call with Leah. Private, do not send. About 20 minutes. Rule: give value first, ask before you offer, and never mention prices unless she asks.

1 Cover — 1 min

SAY Congratulate her. Say: “I prepared a short playbook for your first 90 days. It is yours to keep.”

ASK Ask: “How is your launch week shaping up?”

2 Where we are — 1 min

SAY Walk the timeline left to right. Everything is done except Apple's approval. Stress that the safety tools in chat and the web member protection are already in place.

ASK Ask: “Any news from Apple yet?”

3 What is strong — 1 min

SAY Read the five cards quickly. Say her promise out loud: “Start building your best self for the long run.”

ASK Ask: “Which of these matters most to your members?”

4 Member journey — 2 min

SAY This is the key slide. Six moments, each can be improved. Her biggest gaps are the first (being found) and the last (being recommended).

ASK Ask: “Where do you feel members drop off today?” Write the answer down.

5 90 days at a glance — 1 min

SAY Four phases, one focus each. Keep it simple. Do not read the bullets.

ASK Say: “The next slides give the detail. You can do all of this yourself.”

6 Phases 1 and 2 — 2 min

SAY Highlight two items: manual release, so she picks launch time, and the Day 0 welcome message.

ASK Ask: “Who will answer chat reports and the support email?”

7 Phases 3 and 4 — 1 min

SAY Highlight the 14 day challenge and the win back message. Mention counting Android requests.

ASK Ask: “Do you already run challenges or weekly themes?”

8 App Store listing — 2 min

SAY Give her the real copy: subtitle, keywords, promotional text. Explain that screenshots must show the real app. Say the keywords are exactly 100 characters.

ASK Offer value: “Send me the exact words you want to keep and I will check them for you.”

9 First 7 days — 2 min

SAY Read the Day 0 message. Explain the goal: a first workout within 24 hours. She can send these herself.

ASK Ask: “Do you send a welcome message today?”

10 Design direction — 2 min

SAY Explain you used only her own words and colors: sage green, “uplifted, not beat down”, strong, powerful, mobile. Say her paywall already follows the style. The login and home use a generic template.

ASK Ask: “Does this feel like FTLR to you?” Listen carefully.

11 Concept: home — 2 min

SAY Say clearly: this is a concept with illustrations. Real photos and content would go inside. Point to the Start button, weekly ring and the three pillars.

ASK Ask: “What would you want members to see first?”

12 Concept: welcome — 2 min

SAY Sign in, choose a goal, a note from her. Say: “This is how a member reaches a first workout in minutes.”

ASK Ask: “Would a note from you in the app feel natural?”

13 Android — 1 min

SAY Explain the 14 day count. Be honest: if nobody asks, wait. This builds trust.

ASK Ask: “Do members ask for Android today?” Write the number down.

14 Quick wins — 1 min

SAY Tell her these five take minutes and need no help from you.

ASK Say: “Start with number 1 today.”

15 Where we can go next — 2 min

SAY Only now mention working together. Options only, no prices. Say: “No pressure, choose any piece or none.”

ASK Ask: “What matters most in the next 30 days?” Then stop talking and listen.

16 Thank you — 30 sec

SAY Thank her. Say you will send a short written summary after the call.

ASK If she wants prices: “I will send a clear written offer on Fiverr so your payment is protected.”

If she asks about price

Do not quote on the call. Say: “Let me confirm what you want first, then I will send a clear written offer with milestones on Fiverr.” That keeps value first and protects your price.

After the call

Send her the PDF playbook, thank her, and tell me what she said. I will write the offer and update the notes.
